FRENCH TROOPS AT HEIGHTS OF KRITHIA

BETWEEN JUNE 21 AND 30 THE FRENCH STORMED AND OCCUPIED MANY TRENCHES

TURK TROOPS ARE DISPIRITED

Their Hesitating Advances Met By Murderous Fire and They Lose Heavily Without Gains

By Associated Press.

Paris, July 23.—Exploits of the French expeditionary force on the Gallipoli peninsula June 21 and 30 and in the region of Kerezhos Bere are recounted in an official statement issued tonight, regarding the operations in the Dardanelles. Four trenches forming steps on a slope between the sea and a ravine opening from the village were chosen as the objective for the attack on the 21st. A west wind covered the field of battle with dust, swept by the artillery preparations. Suddenly about 11 o'clock metallic flashes streaked the shroud of yellow dust and the clash of bayonets was heard as the infantry leaped to the assault. One after the other the trenches fell before the impetuous charge of the French troop which carried them almost to the heights of Krithia beyond farthest point at which the assault was aimed. An entire Turkish company surprised in the first trench surrendered without resistance.

"Counter attacks the following night," the official report says, "failed to budge the victorious forces. The French left completed on June 30, the advantage gained on the 21st by charging a group of communicating trenches called the 'Quadrilateral' at the head of the Kerezhos Bere ravine. Seven lines were taken by the assault. Certain colonial troops carried away by their enthusiasm pursued the enemy beyond the objective fixed. These colonials were almost surrounded but were able to gain the 'Quadrilateral.' They remained in undisputed possession of these trenches after the enemy had made one unsuccessful and disastrous counter attack. It was here that Gen. Goroud was wounded.

"On the night of July 4 and 5 the Turks heavily enforced, aided by aeroplanes and five cruisers of the Barassa type undertook a general attack. They seemed to have lost their spirit, however. Their hesitating advances were met by the allies by a murderous fire which was held until the last possible moment and which inflicted terrible losses without a foot of gain to the enemy. Seventeen allied aviators attacked the enemy aerodrome at Chanank on the afternoon of the fourth. Explosive bombs were dropped on the principle hangar which was set on fire."

Gen. H. J. M. Goroud who was commander of the French forces in the Dardanelles, was wounded by a shell which fell near an ambulance while he was visiting the wounded. His wound was not considered dangerous but it was deemed advisable for him to return to France.

ONE NEGRO DEAD ANOTHER DYING AT ABILENE

By Associated Press.

Abilene, Texas, July 23.—One negro is dead, another is dying and a third is in jail as the result of a fight here this morning, occurring in the heart of the business section. The dead negro was shot in a meat market where a white man and a little girl narrowly escaped bullets. The wounded negro was slashed all over the body.

TWO ARRESTED FOR IMPERSONATING OFFICER

Three Men and Boy Stopped in Railroad Yards and Turned Loose After Posing Alleged Officers

Two men were taken into custody late Thursday night by Officers Burns and Gilham and lodged in jail on charges of impersonating an officer. They were turned over to the county authorities.

Last night while three men and a small boy were walking through the railroad yards, two men stopped them and told them they were under arrest for trespassing on railroad property, the two representing themselves to be special officers for the railroads. They let one of the men and his son go, then asked the other two if they had any money, saying a small payment would avoid a trip to the city hall. One of the "arrested" men gave them 50 cents, the other a dollar. The "officers" then returned to the man and his boy and told them that papers had been issued for their arrest. They finally accepted one dime, all the money the man had and released him.

The matter was at once reported to the city hall and Officers Gilham and Burns soon made the arrests. This is the second case of impersonating an officer within the past few days.

In this connection, it may be stated that no officer has authority to collect money from anyone he arrests, either for bond or for fine. The bond is fixed at the city hall and anyone "arrested" in the above described manner will probably play safest by insisting upon being taken to the city hall.

WAREHOUSE THE COTTON ADVICE OF CAMERON

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, July 23.—Warehouse the cotton, let the surplus be consumed, then gradually market as the demand is created. This is the advice given Texas farmers by D. M. Cameron, chief clerk of the state warehouse department. "Let us not get excited as we did last season," says Mr. Cameron, "but be conservative and instead of beginning in August and September to sell our cotton, wait and let the market adjust itself." Mr. Cameron says if Southern farmers will warehouse and hold their cotton several months, they will be able later to demand and receive a reasonable price for the staple.

Should they become naturalized in the meantime and return to Germany they are protected by the naturalization treaty under which the United States would intervene in their behalf.

IDAHO RANCHMAN WILL PAY RANSOMN FOR SON

Lone Driver Will Take Money to Designated Spot at Midnight Saturday Night

By Associated Press.

At that hour $6,000 will be deposited on a designated rock for the release of Earnest Empey, a rancher who was waylaid last Saturday night by a bandit, kidnapped and held for ransome. Empey's father completes arrangements today for the paying of the money. A note to Empey's father said that unless the money was forthcoming his son would be killed. MEXICO CITY STILL CUT OFF FROM OUTSIDE WORLD

No Word Has Come From Battle Believed In Progress at Pachicha

By Associated Press.

Washington, July 23.—Mexico City remains cut off from communication with the outside world and military operations in the surrounding territory are cloaked in mystery. No special effort is being made by the United States to re-establish communication because the fighting makes it impossible. Both Villa and Carranza agencies are without advices about the armies believed engaged near Pachicha. The Carranza troops which left Mexico City to meet the southward bound Villa column have not been heard from since Sunday.

BOTH PRO AND ANTI CROWDS GROWING

C. B. PASH AND S. O. JONES FOR ANTIS AND DR. ANDREWS FOR PROS SPEAKERS

THOUSANDS AT ANTI MEETING

Many Stand On Street and Hear Eloquent Prohibition Address—Interest Keen

The largest crowds that have yet been out attended both the anti and pro meetings last night. Rev. A. L. Andrews was the speaker for the pros while C. B. Pash, lately of Amarillo delivered an anti speech at the Airdome and S. O. Jones, an attorney of this city, addressed an overflow meeting on the court house yard.

Mr. Pash who is a property owner at Amarillo said that he had some corner lots at Amarillo he would be glad to trade for Wichita Falls property if Wichita Falls stayed wet. He devoted much of his speech to a contrast to conditions in prohibition communities compared with those in dry communities. He declared that while Kansas was dry and Missouri wet, Kansas people drink more whiskey than do Missourians. He said that every president but one had been an anti. The exception was Hayes, and Mr. Pash commented that Hayes stole the presidency.

"Our pro friends," said Mr. Pash, "are in favor of cutting out all good whiskey and beer and causing conditions where we could not get anything but bad whiskey."

He referred to the 2 retail liquor houses and three wholesale liquor establishments here occupying business buildings and pictured conditions with these buildings empty. He predicted that if the town stayed wet that it would become a city of thirty or forty thousand within a few years.

In closing he praised Mayor A. H. Britain for his stand and his taking the leadership in the fight to keep the town wet. He said that such a mayor was the man to keep in office. Mr. Pash was given the closest attention and at many points was interrupted with cheers.

Prohibition Speaking.

Dr. Andrews spoke with great eloquence in the advocacy of prohibition at the corner of Eighth street and Indiana avenue and although those who heard him were compelled to stand his audience constantly increased in size as he spoke and few, if any left. He declared that statistics showed the use of liquor decreased a man's efficiency at the rate of 15 per cent a year. "That which takes from man's efficiency is an evil to the man, his family and to the state," Dr. Andrews said. He declared that statistics showed that a man who drank was 31 per cent more liable to any disease than a man who doesn't drink. He said that 100 per cent more deaths are due each year in the United States to the use of liquor than all the deaths from tuberculosis. "They ask you," he said, "to perpetuate a thing that not only renders men inefficient but it is also the greatest curse on the physical constitution of man." He said that 75 per cent of the insanity of the world came through the use of alcoholic drink and charged that 50 per cent of the world's crime was directly traceable to whiskey. Discussing the influence of the saloon in a community Dr. Andrews said that it fostered lawlessness and encourages crime. "It's the headquarters for the criminal," he said. "It's where he goes for his inspiration and encouragement." He charged that the open saloon was not only a lawless institution but that it originates and encourages thirst of strong drink. "The saloon," he said, "is obliged to make as many drinkers as men who drink die each year." He estimated that twenty-five per cent of the adult male population of Wichita Falls were drinkers and that ten per cent of them die each year and that their places at the bars must be taken by young men. He further said that it was a business necessity of the saloon to keep men in the whiskey habit to keep their saloons running. He told of receiving the circular of a Wichita Falls saloon man addressed to him as "Rev." and quoting prices of liquor and saying that the package could be delivered to him without any markings and that no one need know the contents but himself. He said that saloon man evidently felt the need of "moral support."

He declared that the gambling house and the bawdy houses were companions of the saloon. The two must depend upon the other, he said, one supplies the other with what it needs.

He said he would feel confident of the result if he knew that every voter when he entered the ballot box would "lay aside every selfish thought and vote for your best interest—for your wife and home and children."

ITALY IS INCENSED AT TURKEY'S ACTION

By Associated Press.

Rome, July 23.—Diplomatic relations between Italy and Turkey, already strained, are becoming more tense because of reported refusal of the Turkish authorities to permit Italian subjects to leave the Ottoman Empire. It is believed here that a declaration of war by Italy in the near future is highly probable.

Reports from Cairo that a Turkish-German expedition had been landed in Italian territory in Tripoli has aroused the ire of the Italian press. Rome also has heard that a large number of Italian reservists has been detained at Smyrna on the pretense that passenger traffic has been stopped because of the port being closed. Although Italy is at war with Austria there has been no declaration of hostilities against Germany or Turkey, allies of the enemy.

RUSSIANS STUBBORNLY DEFENDING RAILROAD

RUSSIANS FAIL TO CHECK TEUTONS

AUSTRO-GERMANS NOW WITHIN FEW MILES OF GREAT MILITARY RAILROAD

FIGHT WITH GREAT BRAVERY

Teutons Compelled Literally to Throw Russians From Trenches at Bayonet Point

By Associated Press.

Berlin, July 23.—A dispatch from Vienna says that the final attempt of the Russians to stop the advance of their opponents in a critical battle on the Lublin-Cheim railroad southeast of Warsaw has failed. The decisive action is likely to come between the Vistula and Bug rivers. The Russian western front is seriously menaced, the dispatch adds.

The railroad line running between Ivangorod, Lublin and Cheim is now only a few miles northward of the Teutonic lines and the capture of Lublin and Cheim is said to be only the question of a brief time.

The correspondent of the National Zeitung at Tarnow, Galacia while reporting that the Austro-German forces are advancing steadily, points out that there are difficulties to be met. He says that the Russians have to contend with the lack of ammunition but the statement that their morals are shattered is untrue. On the contrary they are displaying the greatest bravery and endurance and only in the case of contingents without higher officers do they surrender readily. At Krasnostaz, thirty-four miles south of Lublin there occurred an engagement at close quarters which was unusually desperate and deadly.

The Russians awaited their attacking opponents and resisted them with the bayonet. They had assembled strong reserves and the Germans and Austrians had to expend the greatest efforts to overcome them. It was necessary literally to throw the Russians from their trenches.

AUTO LINE TO WAURIKA MAY BE ESTABLISHED

Man Who Opened Petrolia-Byers Line May Extend Service to Oklahoma Town

An automobile stage line between Wichita Falls and Waurika may shortly be added to the motor lines out of this city. Charles Bennett, who recently established the Wichita Falls-Byers-Petrolia auto stage, is contemplating extending his service to Waurika, which he believes will prove of much convenience to Wichitans wishing to make connection with the Rock Island.

The line between this city and Petrolia and Byers is now in operation. The first car leaves the Hearn hotel here at six in the morning, reaching Petrolia at 7:20 and Byers at 7:50. Returning it leaves Byers at 8 a. m., Petrolia at 9 and reaches this city at 10:20. The afternoon car leaves this city at 4 o'clock, making Petrolia at 5:30 and Byers at 6:50. Returning it leaves Byers at 6:30, Petrolia at 7 and Wichita Falls at 8:20.

DAMAGE SUITS BEING FILED AGAINST RAILROAD

Fort Worth & Denver Charged With Responsibility For Holliday Creek Overflow

Suits asking damages aggregating $7920 have been filed against the Fort Worth & Denver Railway, as a result of the Holliday creek overflow, which, the petitioners allege, was due to the Denver's embankment at its bridge across Holliday creek. Those suing and the amounts asked by each are: B. A. Baswell, $475; J. H. Hall, $950; F. Lindsay, $530; W. R. Castle, $250; G. M. Harness, $465; I. H. Lee, $640; J. T. Parr, $435; D. F. Walker, $425; R. J. Hudson, $750; W. I. Cameron, $3000. The Hudson and Cameron suits were filed in the district court, the others in the county court. T. R. Boone represents Walker, Hudson and Cameron, the others being represented by Fitzgerald and Cox. With the exception of Felix Lindsay, all the plaintiffs are farmers on the south side of the creek. Lindsay is suing for damage to household effects and his home.

W. I. Cameron, who is suing for $3000 claims this amount as the result of the alleged destruction of 750 peach trees and 76 pecan trees by the flood. Mr. Cameron has an orchard of more than 1000 peach trees near Holliday creek and the water overflowed a large part of the orchard. The trees which were overflowed died, he claims, soon after the flood. The others claim damages for destruction of crops, poultry and effects.

TEUTONS ATTACKING ALONG LONG FRONT

THEIR FIERCE ASSAULTS TO CAPTURE IVANGOROD LUBLIN RY. NOT SUCCESSFUL

OFFENSIVE AT KOVNO

Germans Compel Russian Retirement Along Front From Kovno to the Baltic Sea

By Associated Press.

London, July 23.—Over the Russian front from the Baltic as far as the Bug the only district in which the Austrians and Germans are not attempting a serious offensive lies opposite the region of East Prussia, which is well defended by the Mazurian lakes North and south of Kovnon German attacks are reported but the chief fighting is in progress south of Ivangorod, Lublin and Cheim, connected by the railroad line which is of such value to the Russians and south of Sokal on the Bug in Galicia near the Russian border.

The report of the investment of Ivangorod in yesterday's communication from the German war office is puzzling observers here who declare it is impossible that the great fortress could have been surrounded completely. Southward from Warsaw, west of the Vistula, the Germans report a victory for the Silesian Landwehr which stormed the Russian position and threw back their defenders into the fortress of Ivangorod. On the scene of the Silesian success, 15 miles from the fortress it is believed, here the German official report must have been translated erroneously as claiming the investment of the fortress itself, when the outlying protecting forts were meant.

To the Allies' observers, one of the most hopeful features of the campaign is the stubborn defense the Lublin-Cheim railroad by the Russian.

On the Narew front to the north there had been a lull in the fighting but renewed activity of the Germans from Kovno to the Baltic has developed into an important engagement, as a result of which the Russians have been compelled to retire. Interest here in the fate of Warsaw is undiminished but the stubborn resistance of the Russians is doing much to allay fears.

This feeling of relief enables the public to pay some attention to other battlefronts. The allies report minor aggressesa Birt-siledrfe 7890$ EAOL successes in Mesopotamia and at the Dardanelles. Along the French, Belgian and Italian fronts there has been little change so far as the official reports show, although some fierce fighting has been in progress at scattered points.

The relations between Italy and Turkey indicate a formal declaration of war is imminent.

QUIET PREVAILED TODAY AT BAYONNE, NEW JERSEY

By Associated Press.

New York, July 23.—In marked contrast to the three previous days of the week quiet prevailed in the Constable Hook section of Bayonne, N. J., today around the plants of the Standard Oil Co., and the Tidewater Oil Co., which have been closed because of a strike of 1000 men in the Standard works and the resultant disorder whereby three men were killed. Crowds gathered in the streets leading to the works but no threatening move was made. Desultory firing occurred during the night but this was attributed to false alarms by the guards. Sheriff Kinkead and Commissioner of Public Safety Henry Wilson today believed the situation was well in hand and that there would be no need of troops.

AMENDMENT AND TICK ELECTIONS TOMORROW

Six Constitutional Amendments to Be Voted on—Little Interest in Proposed Changes

Tomorrow is election day and the people of Texas will vote upon six proposed amendments to the state constitution. The nature of these amendments and their purpose has already been published. A light vote is expected, as the average voter does not bestir himself to any marked extent over constitutional amendments.

A special election will be held in Wichita county on the question of tick eradication and while comparatively little is known on this subject among city voters, those in the country are expected to turn out and vote upon it. There is considerable sentiment in favor of eradication, but quite a little sentiment against it is manifest.

The voting boxes will be at the usual places and the regular election officers will be in charge. The saloons will be closed all day. The polls will be open from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m.

"DESTROYS ITS TENS OF THOUSANDS"

(By WILLIAM N. GEMMILL)

(Judge of the Municipal Court of Chicago)

Booze is the mother of crime. It gives life and sustenance to slums, dives, brothels, gambling dens and "pay-off joints." It nerves to his deed the homicide, the stick-up man, the burglar, the thief and the thug. It fires the brain of the prostitute and the panderer. It feeds and inflames the passions of the weak-minded and the degenerate.

I have tried an army of 50,000 human derelicts, most of whom were booze-soaked. With faces red and bloated, with eyes dull and languid, with bodies weak and wasted, with clothing foul and ragged, this vast army is forever marching with unsteady step to the graves of the drunkard and the pauper or to the prison and workhouse.

I have looked into the tear-stained faces of a still larger army of fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters, wives and husbands, as they have pleaded for the miserable wrecks that booze has made. I have seen with this army ten thousand pale-faced, hollow-cheeked, ragged, hungry and starving children, cursed by booze.

I have observed that every bandit crew that goes forth to murder starts from a saloon; that every panderer has his rendezvous in a grogshop; that every den of thieves makes its victims drunk before it robs them; that every house of prostitution has its bar or is in partnership with booze; that every gambling den either is in a saloon or sustains a close relationship with one; that the pickpocket "trust" is housed in a saloon; that the pay-off joint" for the crook and the crooked policeman is in a saloon; that the professional bondsmen and character witness for thieves and hold-up men are saloon-keepers or bartenders.

Booze has caused 200,000 divorces in the United States in the last twenty years and adds 25,000 more to this number every year. It divides more homes, fills more jails and empties more churches than all other influences combined.

Judges, Legislators, Mayors, Governors and even Presidents sit dumb or quail in the presence of this monster, which enters millions of homes and leaves them desolate. I have witnessed daily its ravages after it had spent its wild fury upon the helpless bodies of women and children, or after it had reaped for a night, in the public dance, its harvest of virture, now dead forever. I have observed that the last man to be employed and the first to be discharged is a victim of booze.

Booze never built a park, a playground, a school or a church, but is the enemy of them all.

War may be hell, but where it slays its thousands, booze destroys its tens of thousands.—Chicago Herald.

A LETTER FROM THE COUNTY JUDGE OF LAMAR COUNTY

"Paris, Texas, July 10, 1915. Hon. W. J. Bullock, Wichita Falls, Texas. Dear sir: Your letter adressed to "Any Leading Prohibitionist" was referred to me to answer same. In the beginning I want to say that you should have addressed your question to "Any Reliable Anti," then your people on the other side would have accepted his answer. I assure you it would have been satisfactory to you on each question.

"First you ask "did prohibition hurt Paris in a business way?" I would answer that it did not but on the contrary has put business on a firmer and more satisfactory basis. Any business man with any degree of self respect will answer the same way or will verify my answer. Just as I read you letter a prominent citizen, an anti, entered my office and I asked him the question. He replied "I suppose there is not a man in Lamar county who would say it did. I know that it did not."

"To your second question "would you have the saloons back if you could get them?" This same gentleman answered "I don't think theer are 500 people in this county who would vote for saloons now, if you bar the negroes." In my opinion this man was very conservative. He was talking in the presence of two other citizens, J. Wash Beard and F. M. Hutchings, both prominent farmers who keep up with things and who are willing to verify his statements.

"The story of our improvement is such a long one, the changes brought about so many and so satisfactory that no discussion of them in a letter would or could be sufficient to the occasion. We can come over and tell your people of examples of the good efects of prohibition that should convince the most pessimistic. I would like to know why good business men, such as you have in your city, could fail to see the point and retain the saloons.

Fraternally,

TOM M. BEAUCHAMP,

County Judge Lamar Co."

A CHALLENGE TO THE ANTIS

Mayor Britian and others claim that property will depreciate fifty per cent from its real value if we have prohibition. They do not believe it. We will agree to furnish the money to buy all the property they have to offer at a higher rate than fifty per cent if the town goes dry. We expect no offers on this proposition.

CONSTANTINOPLE BECOMES ACCUSTOMED TO WAR

Constantinople.—The city has thoroughly accustomed itself to the war and follows its pursuits as if the allies were as many thousands, as they are hundreds of kilometers away. Business has increased a little and the supply of carpets put up for sale by needy families has diminished, which is interpreted as meaning that once more money can be had from friends, or loans from business acquaintances. Much of this money is spent in the open air cafes, but it is spent in the humble plaster. Nightly without regard to political inclinations, the people gather in the cafes, sip coffee and absorb whiskeys and sodas—it of Triple Entente leanings—listen to indifferent music and generally enjoy life. The feeling now is, let the allies take care of their business as best they can. Even the Greeks and Armenians here who formerly prayed secretly that the English and French would force the Dardanelles are now quite indifferent whether they do or not.

The Turk is getting away from himself—creeping out of his shell. The war has brought to the mind of many Turks that the separatism of old was not as desirable a thing as was believed. The Turk, so say many, is coming into contact with the west by being obliged to read the communiques from Berlin and Vienna. He has acquired a real interest in the fate of two other political aggregates, and in so doing he had widened his mental horizon to the extent of feeling that his fate is not the only one over which Allah presides.

Last Tuesday a British submarine came to the very mouth of the Golden Horn and torpedoed with indifferent success, hitting a coal barge and blowing off some of the paint of another vessel, an army transport for which the visit was intended.

MUCH ALFALFA BEING SHIPPED FROM VERNON

(Vernon Record)

Alvin Tiroff, secretary of the Wilbarger County Crop Diversification and Marketing Association, reports that at the close of the past week he had shipped out a total of forty-eight cars of alfalfa hay, mostly to South Texas, and is loading out this week eight additional carloads, making a total of fifty-six handled through his office since the association was organized. Mr. Tiroff is very optimistic for the future of the association and predicts that it will prove a great benefaction to the farmers who take advantage of its facilities in finding markets for the products of the farm. Mr. Tiroff is also very much gratified over the fact that he has not had a car of hay refused or "docked" on grades. He also urged that the farmers of the county use the association in any way they possibly can. Whatever they want to buy or sell in the way of farm products he will be glad to render assistance through the local association and its connections with similar organizations throughout the state.

Boiling Beef
That You Can Eat

I have seen pieces of boiling beef, and I guess you have too, that the longer they were cooked the tougher and more tasteless they seemed to get.

Not very stisfactory meat.

I'd like to have you try a piece of boiling beef from my meat department next time you want that kind of meat and I think you will admit that it's the best you ever had.

Not a bit more expensive than other dealers will charge you; it's merely the difference in selection of cuts—that plus my careful buying.

The Lawyer.

I'd rather be a timber sawyer
Or candy peddler than a lawyer.
The lawyer looks upon the hills
And thinks of nuncupative wills.
The lawyer views the rolling prairie
And talks of writs of certiorari.
The lawyer to the lake resorts
And reads up Kickleton on Torts.
The lawyer lies where Sylvan Peace is
And dreams of mortgages and leases.

MISS MARGARET BURNSIDE ENTERTAINS THURSDAY

A number of young folks were entertained most delightfully Thursday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. S. H. Burnside, the younger daughter of the house, Miss Margaret complimenting Miss Lorna Shaw, one of the younger set favorites who leaves soon for Ohio with her parents to reside, also Messrs. Lemonde and Lawrence Henry of Dallas, who are visiting their sister, Mrs. Everett Jones. A "tongue dance" was the entertainment devised for the first half of the evening, dance programs being filled out for progressive conversation. One of the topics for conversation was "Won't we miss Doonie" another in recognition of the young men honorees, "The Dallas Blues" and the last two were "From the Lone Star to Ohio" and "Now or Never," the young ladies proposing as a finale. Following the last conversation the guests retired from the lawn, which was strung with lights in festive array, and enjoyed a session of dancing in the house. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served at a late hour to the following, the honorees, Miss Lorna Doone Shaw and Lemonde and Lawrence Henry. Misses Helen Stone, Berenice Jackson, Audrey Adickes, Thelma Kahn, Fannie Minter, Cornelia McAllister of Paris, Ellen Adele Robertson, Margaret Noble, Louise Montgomery, Edith Yates, Alice Bonner, Anita Monroe, Ruth Simpson, Delphyne Wyatt, Mattie Ruth Corlett, Elmouise Peery, Marion Muer, Margaret Banhart of Childress, Pauline Richolt; Messrs. WISHED SHE COULD DIE

And Be Free From Her Troubles, but Finds Better Way.

Columbia, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering, from womanly troubles. I could not get up, without pulling at something to help me, and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my housework.

The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally, I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more, and I don't have to go to bed. In fact, I am sound and well of all my troubles."

Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature—not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.

If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists.

Sticking Pins in Nutmegs

That is the expert's way of telling the good ones. The natural oil in the nutmeg is what gives it its flavoring qualities—the more oil there is the greater the nutmeg's value for flavoring.

Stick a pin in a nutmeg that is full of this oil and oil will ooze out of the pin hole when the pin is withdrawn—little or no oil will follow the pin if the nutmeg is a poor one.

So you see wherein two tins of perfectly pure nutmeg may differ widely in flavoring value—the one kind being ground from oily nutmegs and the other from nutmegs that could not pass the pin sticking test.

You must be certain that besides being pure the ground nutmeg you buy is oily nutmeg. Looks tell it in a way—the oily kind is a smooth, rich brown—the other kind looks more grainy and is specked with black woody particles. Your best assurance is to buy a brand that is packed by a company of integrity and reputation—and so packed that none of the flavor is lost through evaporation. Every bit of White Swan Ground Nutmeg is made from nutmegs that have in the highest degree, passed the pin-sticking test—that are full of the oil that flavors. That's why White Swan Nutmeg costs a little more but, because it takes so little to give a rich flavor, is so economical to use.

Your grocer sells and recommends White Swan Nutmeg—and other White Swan Goods—ask him.

Wichita Falls, Texas, July 23, 1915

The next election after the prohibition issue is settled should be one on bonds for a new court house. That should come, regardless of which side wins on July 31st.

Judge Felder says that it has been his observation in the anti-pro campaign that the lawyers are about equally divided. If there are two in the firm, one is pro and the other anti. If there happens to be three in the firm the third member remains neutral or takes his position on the fence. The judge however, has no partner, and goes quietly fishing and taking it easy at his summer home on Lake Wichita, trying to be as neutral as an anti-pro can be in a hot campaign like that of the present.

The city council has ordered the paving of another down town alley, but there are still several that are mudholes in wet weather and dust piles in dry weather, and The Times hopes to see the property-owners involved get together and have them paved also. The expense is slight compared with the benefits that accrue. The alley from Eighth to Ninth between Michigan and Ohio is still unpaved, though it is used probably as much as any in the city. Many transients use that alley in going from the station to their hotels and it would give them a much better impression of the city if it were paved.

There is one amendment out of the six to be voted upon tomorrow that deserves the support of every friend of higher education. It is the amendment which provides for the separation of the State University and A. & M. College. These two institutions were "married" many years ago and the bond has never been legally dissolved. However, they have never lived together, don't get along very well together, and each wants a divorce. The amendment is not all that could be desired by the friends of either institution, but it is a step forward, and as such is deserving of support. It cannot be denied that both these institutions under present conditions have somewhat fallen short of their mission as the chief educational institutions of a state as great as Texas, and it might be well to try divorcing them.

There is little interest in the election that will take place tomorrow, either for or against the six amendments to be voted on, or for or against local option now is the local option election to be held on Saturday, July 31st. Meetings are being held nightly by both pros and antis, and there seems but little doubt but that a large vote will be polled in this city and precinct than ever before. The campaign committees are at work, and every man entitled to a vote will be urged to be at the polls Saturday. Many who are away from home on vacations are being urged to return. It is difficult at this time to even make a guess as to what the result will be, except to predict that victory will be with the side that does the most effective work.

THE PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

Following are the proposed Constitutional Amendments to be voted on by the people of this State on next Saturday, the 24th; in the order they appear on the ballot to be voted:

1. To authorize voting away from home under certain conditions, and to require foreign-born men to be fully naturalized, in accordance with the laws of the United States, in order to vote.

2. To increase the membership of the State Board of Control from three members to six members.

3. To authorize the people of any county or subdivision thereof to vote a special road tax, not to exceed 60c on the $100 (present limit 15c), and to authorize a tax of not to exceed $1 on the $100 for permanent improvements in county or town (present limit 25c).

4. To authorize the people of any county to vote a special tax, not to exceed 20c on the $100 for the purpose of creating a fund out of which to make loans to worthy students, to be used in higher education at a State institution.

5. To authorize the people in any overflowed district to issue bonds not to exceed 50 per cent of the assessable value of the land to protect it from overflow by levees or other works (present limit 25 per cent).

6. To divorce the A. & M. College from the University of Texas, to divide the University lands between these institutions of higher learning, and to authorize the legislature to provide for the support and improvement of such institutions by appropriation or otherwise.

England robbed the United States of the biggest part of her cotton crop last year. Will the United States permit her to do the same thing this year? Uncle Sam holds the whip in this European war. The Times would like to see him use it in order to prevent England from destroying the shipping interests of this country. Our idea of neutrality is to treat all belligerents right. If England can use our cotton during war times she should not intercept our ships and hold them when carrying American cotton and food stuffs to Germany. If England persists in her attitude toward the shipping interests of this country, or Uncle Sam permits her to do it, the Southern cotton farmer will be forced to go out of the business of raising cotton for foreign markets, for the reason that that which he raises and sells to England he only gets the price England wishes to pay, and that is not much, if anything above the cost of production. The price England pays also fixes the price American cotton speculators pay for it, less the commission, freight and insurance charges required to carry it to Liverpool. It's a serious matter, and one that should receive attention, even if it should require a special session of Congress.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS DEATH AT GAINESVILLE

By Associated Press.

Gainesville, Tex., July 23.—Mystery surrounds the identity of the man who died here Wednesday after claiming that he was sick from a drink of whiskey he had been given on a train. Autopsy revealed no trace of alcohol but a large amount of morphine. Suicide is believed, although the coroner has not yet returned his verdict. Marks on his clothing led to the supposition that his name is J. V. Ashford but this has not yet been confirmed.

HUNGARIANS MAY BE ENCOURAGED IN OUTBREAK

American Hungarians May Be Organed to Interfere With Munitions Manufacture

London, July 22.—The Morning Post's Budapest correspondent says:

"It is stated that the government contemplates the mobilization of the American Austrians and Hungarians, of whom there are some 6,000,000 in the United States, so as to interfere with the manufacture of war material, if the American government will not meet the demands of the central empires. One of the members of Count Tisza's club said:

"'It is a great mistake on the part of America to believe that we are utterly powerless, for if the worst comes to the worst, we have more than 15,000,000 men, mostly in the Eastern States—Germans, Austrians and Hungarians—who are ready to menace the business of the munition manufacturers.'

"It is not quite clear what all this means unless it refers to the bombs and revolvers of Mr. Morgan's assailant, Muenter, who is feted in Vienna and Munich as a German martyr. There are 3,000 Hungarian societies in America which can create trouble and foment strikes, but for such an undertaking a central organization or body is necessary, and the American authorities may have something to say on that subject. Underground agitation, on the other hand, would be of very little use. Moreover, though there are many thousands of Hungarians employed in factories in America, turning out war material for England and the Allies, and, though the agents of the German organizations are doing their best to impress them with their ideas, these people pay little or no heed to them.

"Count Tisza, in giving his followers some idea of his policy, is reported to have said something to this effect: 'We have been at war almost a year now, and have tried to behave modestly, as every great military power should behave. We have worked hard and shed our blood and spent our money until we have achieved a position in the war which justifies our taking into consideration the unfriendly attitude and pretensions of certain neutrals, who interpret neutrality entirely in defiance of the spirit of the word and in accordance with their own interests and sentiments. We think the time has arrived when we should take a stand, and in the name of right and justice raise a protest against the menacing and disloyal attitude of certain neutral States.'

"These general phrases are said to relate partly to Roumania and partly to America, but the Premier did not give any indication as to the precise steps he would take."

MORAL SIDE OF PROHIBITION!

(Advertisement)

Our friends of the prohibition committee consume considerable space in an effort to prove that their theory should be adopted, if for no other reason, that it promotes the morals of a community, but they only cite in support of their contention a few isolated towns, and such proof is not of a nature to be convincing.

This committee has shown from government statistics that prohibition did not only fail to improve the moral condition of Kansas, but that today that state has a greater per centage of crime of all kinds than many states that are wet. Twenty-four states have fewer murderers, nine license states have a lower per centage of prisoners, and sixteen license states have fewer juvenile delinquents in proportion to population. The proportion of paupers is greater than in ten license states and thirty-one license states have a smaller per cent of divorces. Seventeen license states have a lower insanity rate and forty-one license states have a greater per centage of church members.

These figures are conclusive as to the moral effect of prohibition when applied statewide, but as our friends of the prohibition persuasion have side-stepped with a request for figures nearer at home, we herewith submit the record of Grayson county, a county that has had several years experience with the character of morality promoted by local option, which record is not at all encouraging to that cause.

Here is a record of some of the effects of prohibition in Grayson county:

GRAYSON COURT RECORDS

Of 52 felony convictions had at the term of the District Court just ended, 30 were for pursuing the occupation of liquor dealer in prohibition territory. At this term of court there were returned 160 felony indictments, more than half of which were for this offense. In several of the cases where trials were had and convictions secured, the defendants had already been indicted at a prior term and convicted and the question of suspending the sentence could not be admitted.

In June of this year, in one of the precincts of the county, the justice court bound over 44 men to await the action of the grand jury, all being local option cases. In these complaints it was being charged that the goods was being sold at threshing outfits, country stores and elsewhere.

6,583 CRIMINAL CASES

From 1904, when the saloons went out of business, to 1909, when the sale of whiskey was made a felony, 6,583 criminal cases were docketed in the county court alone, half of which were local option cases. Since 1909 there have been docketed in the district court more than 2,100 felony cases, of which it is estimated more than half are local option cases. The number of criminal cases in this county since prohibition is estimated as being three times the number of those for a like period of time prior to its adoption. During the first five years of prohibition in that county one citizen was arrested in more than 270 cases for the illegal sale of whiskey. Every Christmas an order is issued by the court to confiscate all the whiskey on hand and the sheriff's department estimates that more than 600 gallons were confiscated at one time last Christmas. The prosecution of one man for the illegal sale of liquor is estimated to have cost the county more than $6,000.00.

More than three dozen barrels and boxes of whiskey, captured from bootleggers and confiscated by the federal government, are stored in the basement of the post office building pending the disposition of the cases.

DOES PROHIBITION PROHIBIT

And yet our prohibition friends would have you believe that prohibition does prohibit and that it promotes the morals of a town and community. Do you believe that the record of crime referred to above, involving thousands of witnesses called upon to tell from whom they made their purchase, with the attendant evasions and in many instances perjury, is conducive to better morals?

And they talk eloquently of Sherman as a splendid school town, a model, moral city with prohibition, and of course tell it in a way to leave the impression that prohibition has made it so. But they do not tell you that these splendid schools, such as Austin College and Kidd-Key College were located there prior to the adoption of prohibition. And they do not tell you that Sherman came near losing both institutions and that in each instance, had such move resulted, the school would have been located in a city that was wet.

RECORD FROM MILAM COUNTY

As further evidence that crime increases with prohibition we submit herewith a record of Milam county for four years with licensed saloons.

From October 1903, to April term 1907, inclusive, during prohibition:

Pleas of guilty	54
Pleas of not guilty	17
Dismissals	89
Verdict not guilty	17
Total	177

From October 1907, to April term 1911, inclusive, during anti-prohibition.

Pleas of guilty	32
Pleas of not guilty	4
Dismissals	27
Verdict not guilty	10
Total	73

A City to Be Proud and Not to Be Derided.

In the face of the facts contained in the history of those towns that have adopted prohibition, demonstrating that its adoption has at least interferred with further growth, we submit that the splendid record made by Wichita Falls under present conditions should carry weight in the consideration of this matter, and that every voter who expects to continue his residence here should bear in mind that it is to the interest of all to vote to perpetuate the progressive spirit that has made possible these achievements.

Pride in the accomplishments of this people should inspire everyone to strive for greater achievements in the future and none, even our prohibition friends, will seriously contend that there is hope for further development of consequence if prohibition is adopted. Then, why vote for a measure that can furnish nothing but a serious handicap for many years to come? Why support a proposition that means commercial suicide and sounds the death knell to business progress.

From a small village, Wichita Falls has within a comparatively few years, grown to a city far ahead of any town in the state that has been afflicted with prohibition. It has progressed by leaps and bounds, adding new enterprises and increasing in population from year to year, until now it is the envy of other cities with commercial ambition.

Today we can boast of an increase in postoffice receipts from $10,137.02 in 1905, to $60,479.77 in 1914. Can our prohibition friends claim as much for any of the points to which they refer in their literature?

The assessed valuation has increased within the same time from $1,159,110.00 to $8,248,750.00, a condition that could not possibly have occurred, as shown by the record of other places, if this county had ever within that time adopted prohibition.

In 1905 the bank deposits amounted to only $370,892.52, while in 1914, the total had increased to $2,427,284.54. Do you think for a moment that such a record would have been possible had the county been dry, even a small portion of the time?

The scholastic population for this time has increased from 726 to 2,850, and there are now 2,306 telephone connections, whereas in 1906, the total was only 253.

Our churches now have a combined membership of about 5,000 with property valued at almost half a million dollars.

Is this record not one to be proud of, and is it not such as would deter any loyal citizen from striking down with his ballot the work of these many years? This record of achievement has been possible without the aid of prohibition, and at the same time the moral and religious development of the city has not suffered in the least, but rather has progressed more rapidly and substantially than many other lines of endeavor.

We ask our friends of the prohibition committee to name one single town in the state of Texas, or elsewhere for that matter, with anything like such a record, and especially would we like for them to give us the location of a prohibition point that has done half so well.

Admits Failure of Prohibition.

It appears from the London "Daily Chronicle" that Sir W. M. Ramsey and Sir Thomas Dewar recently had a little difference of opinion with reference to prohibition, this being an interesting topic of conversation in Great Britain just now. Ramsey took Sir Thomas to task for declaring that he had personally studied the American prohibition system and found it to be an absolute failure. Yet even in criticising Sir Thomas, his fellow peer admits that one can get whiskey anywhere if he is determined to have it.

Isn't it the purpose of prohibition to keep whiskey from those who are determined to have it—that is to say, in theory isn't that the case? Certainly it isn't the purpose of prohibition to keep intoxicants from those who don't want them. If, therefore, prohibition doesn't keep whiskey from those who want it, only from those who don't want it, and if those who do want it have to resort to subterfuge and deceit to get it, as Ramsey admits, isn't prohibition branded a failure in the house of its friends?

Is Legislative Intemperance Kansas' Trouble?

According to the Daily Capital of Topeka, Governor Capper signed thirty-seven new laws the other day, bringing the total signed to that date to 267. There are nearly 150 more awaiting his signature, so that when the session of the 1915 legislature ends, probably a few more than 400 new laws will be on the statute books.

And all this mass of legislation in Kansas, the same Kansas that has enjoyed (?) prohibition for thirty years. Four hundred new laws in one session of the Kansas legislature. This seems just a bit strange in view of the mass of press agent matter sent out under Kansas date lines, giving prohibition credit as an absolute "cure-all" for all ills and evils, moral, industrial and economic.

Can it be possible that too many laws enacted and too few laws observed are responsible for the actual conditions in this dry state? Is this the real answer to "What's the matter with Kansas?"

The twelfth of the "Exploits of Elaine" another installment of "The Road of Strife" with Crane Wilbur and Mary Charleson, a "Ham" comedy, a Vitagraph comedy, "Almost a Hero" and "The Bachelor's Burglar," an Essanay are today's pictures, an excellent six reel program.

The Majestic.

Warda Howard and John Lorenze are featured in "The Longer Voyage" a touching story of marital life and a Mina comedy "Once is Enough" is also on the program. Bryant Washburn and Edna Mayo are featured in "Means and Morals" a two part drama.

Irma Carson and Frances Smith are two little shopgirls who are forced to subsist on their salary of $6 a week. When the sundries are taken out, there is nothing left. Irma, urged by youthful appetite, craves a good substantial meal, and in order to get it, goes out on the streets to accost men, taking the big chance that the man she meets will be the right sort. She meets Dick Hardy, who brings her to a restaurant. When he demands his pay, she lays the truth of the matter before him. She is arrested, she was hungry and she took a long chance. Dick is the right sort. He escorts her to her room and on the way, tells her he is a pickpocket. Then they separate and Dick, to help her brother's lives, lifts a woman shopper in the store in which Irma works, misses her pocket book. Glancing quickly down the aisle she sees Dick stuffing it in his clothes. Dick is arrested. Irma calls the manager, the shopper and others into the office. She tells the story of Dick and her. The manager is touched. The charge is dismissed and Dick is given a chance to make good. He does it and declares his love for Irma.

The Empress.

A comedy reel "Merely a Married Man" a Keystone comedy, "Gasoline Gus" and a two part Broncho, "The Conversion of Frosty Blake" make up today's pictures. William Hart and Louise Glaum are featured in the latter named picture, a synopsis of which is given.

The Rev. Horace Brightray, sent West for his health holds services in the hotel dining room, with indifferent success. Frosty Blake, the proprietor of the Legal Tender Saloon, is very bitter against Brightray and has him thrown out of the hotel. The young parson, in desperation, attacks Blake—and then faints because of his physical weakness. Bubbles, a dance hall girl, befriends the sick man, and nurses him back to health. Frosty is moved to give Brightray the use of the dance hall for one hour on Sunday for religious meetings. All the dance hall girls and the gamblers and miners attend. One evening Horned Toad, a desperado from Bitter Creek blows into town. He tries to "break up" the meeting. Frosty drives him out at the point of his gun. The Horned Toad shoots, and the saloon keeper gives chase. The outlaw hides behind a tree in front of the minister's cabin. As Frosty comes within range, Brightray suddenly thrusts himself between him and his enemy. The parson is shot. Before he dies, he performs the marriage ceremony for Frosty and Bubbles.

AN IRISH DIVERSION IN KITCHENER'S ARMY

London.—One of the new branches of Kitchener's army in training now in a camp south of London, is an Irish army, commanded by an Irish general. This is the first time in British history that such a force has been assembled. There have always been Irish troops in the British army and sometimes they have even been in the majority, but hitherto the largest purely Irish unit has been the regiment. This is the first time that an entire division of Irish troops has been made up.

THREE GENERATIONS OF ONE GERMAN FAMILY IN FIELD

Dresden, Germany.—A remarkable case of three generations in the field had just been discovered. The unusual honor belongs to the family of Kloetzer from Bockwa near Zwickau. Kloetzer Sr., a veteran of the war of 1870, in which he won the Iron Cross second class, volunteered for service in his 67th year, at the begining of the war, and went into the field as captain of the first company of the Zwickau reserve battalion. He has been advanced to major and has received the Iron Cross first class.

His son is in the field as captain of the 18th Uhlan regiment and his grandson is lieutenant in the 32nd reserve artillery regiment.

VERNON BOY MAKING MONEY RAISING CANTALOUPES

(Vernon Record)

That cantaloupes can be made to pay in Vernon is evidenced from the experience this year of Robert Lutz, twelve year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lutz, on a patch near the Lutz home in west Vernon of not exceeding a half acre. Robert planted his melons early and was probably the first to begin marketing his crop; thus deriving the advantage of having the centire town to himself. He marketed his first melons about a week ago and already has to his credit in the bank more than $55 and he has by no means marketed his crop. Besides the melons for home use, the young man expects to dispose of at least $100 worth from his small patch. Perhaps the most noteworthy feature of the accomplishment, Robert has done practically all of the work himself. He deserves great credit for his pluck and energy.
